Qualifications

Please describe your relevant analytical skills.

As a member of the District Advisory Council for the past several years for AISD, and a member of the executive committee for that group we are often presented with policy issues that require discussion, analysis, evaluation, and a final vote. We are often given presentations from administrators and/or the superintendent that again, require our input and involvement. I believe that my experience w/ AISD prepares me well for this commission.

Please describe your ability to be impartial.

Again, in my experience in serving on district level committees for AISD, we are often called upon to consider the needs and concerns of our students, our children, all of our children. My impartial approach and attitude has always been putting the children first!

Please describe your appreciation for the City of Austin's diverse demographics and geography.

Having lived in Austin since 1981, I have seen and enjoyed the many changes over the years, from Austin Gran Fest at Fiesta Gardens, to the move to Auditorium Shores, to the explosion of SXSW, I have been thrilled that the Austin community has strongly supported musicians, music, art and dance from all segment of the City. The movement and spread of various ethnic groups across the city has also a benefit to this community. In other words, all of us, more and more, like everywhere which has been good for our schools, business and our community.

Please provide any other information you wish to be considered during the selection of the most qualified applicants for the Commission.

Since 2002, I have served on Campus Advisory Committees for our 2 daughters who have ultimately graduated from AISD. My experience on the DAC for AISD also since 2002 has given me valuable and extensive insight and experience in evaluating and implementing public policy as it relates to all students across the community. In working directly with administrators and board members for AISD, I have been sucessful in having a direct impact (positive!) on the policy implementation level in the district. As much as I am called upon to make comments or presentations, I seek to prepare myself with all pertinent facts and information. As important as it is to be able to discuss and comment on various issues, it is also important to be able to listen to what is being presented and to listen to the views of others. My experience in the decision-making process in AISD, my experience in working with numerous and various members of our past community, and my commitment to social justice for all strongly qualifies for membership on this commission.

Best Regards, Alberto C. Gonzalez

GLOSSARY

- "Bundle" means to raise money as an intermediary for a council candidate by soliciting contributions on the candidate's behalf.
- "Campaign committee" in regard to an "officer, employee or paid consultant of a campaign committee" means a candidate or a specific purpose political committee supporting or opposing a candidate.
- "Candidate" for elective office means a person whose name appeared on a ballot, or who was a declared write-in candidate, in a general or primary election. It does not mean a person who merely announced a candidacy or only filed campaign finance filings. This definition attempts to construe the term against ineligibility, avoid ambiguity and disputes of fact, and use the term in the way most commonly understood by a lay person.
- "City" means Austin.
- "City elective office" means the office of mayor and city council member.
- "City employee" means an employee on the City payroll, including a temporary or part-time employee. The term does not include an independent contractor. This definition follows the definition in Section 2-7-2 of the City Code.
- "City office," with respect to appointment, means a municipal court judgeship (including a substitute judgeship), and membership on a commission, committee, board, task force, or other City body appointed by the mayor or the city council. This definition follows the definition of "city official" in Section 2-7-2 of the City Code, excluding those City officials who are covered separately as City employees.
- "Community college or university in the City of Austin" means a degree-granting post-secondary educational institution, accredited by a recognized accrediting agency under the Education Code, that grants one or more of the following: an associate's degree, a bachelor's degree, a master's degree, or a doctorate, and that regularly conducts classes where the instructor and two or more students are physically present in a physical location within Austin's city limits.
- "Contribution," for purposes of calculating aggregate contributions to candidates for City elective office, includes all contributions to candidates for mayor and city council, and contributions to specific purpose political committees supporting or opposing those candidates.
- "County" refers to a county in which the City of Austin has territory.
- "County elective office" means an office that is voted on county-wide or an office that is voted on by the voters of a precinct drawn by a commissioners court.
- "Employee" with respect to a political party or campaign committee means a person who was paid a salary by the political party or campaign committee.
- "Local lobbyist" means a person required to register under Chapter 4-8 of the City Code.
- "Non-competitively bid contract" means a contract which must be awarded as provided in Section 252.043 of the Local Government Code ("lowest responsible bidder" or "best value for the municipality").

- "Officer" with respect to the "campaign committee of a candidate for elective state, county or city office" means:
  - the campaign treasurer of a candidate for an elective state, county, or city office;
  - the campaign treasurer of a specific purpose political committee that supported or opposed a candidate for an elective state, county, or city office; or
  - an officer or director of an incorporated specific purpose political committee, incorporated for liability purposes only under Section 253.092 of the Texas Election Code, that supported or opposed a candidate for an elective state, county, or city office.

- "Officer" with respect to a political party means a precinct chair, a county chair, or a member of a party executive committee under Title 10 of the Texas Election Code.

- "Paid Consultant" with respect to work done for a political party or campaign committee means a person who was paid monetary consideration for providing legal services, accounting services, public relations services, statistical or polling services, or political or campaign-related services or advice.

- "Paid Consultant" with respect to the three year ban on paid consultancy with a council member, means having a "political or professional contract" with a council member as defined in this guidance.

- "Political or professional contract," in the context of a contract with a council member, means a contract with a council member under which, in return for consideration, a person provided expert advice or personal services related to a council member's duties or to the council member's service as a council member, or provided advice about the conduct of campaign activities or holding office, or provided services to a council member that would be reportable on the council member's required campaign and officeholder filings under Title 15 of the Texas Election Code; Article III, §8 of the Austin City Charter; or Chapter 2-2 of the Austin City Code. This does not include a contract solely for the sale of goods.

- "Political party" means a political party that appeared on the ballot in any of the last three general elections for state and county officers.

- "Professional contract," in the context of a contract with the City means a non-competitively bid contract other than a contract solely for the sale of goods.

- "State" means Texas.

- "State office" means an office held by a "state officer" as defined in Section 572.002 of the Government Code.
  - In the context of an appointment to a state office, "state office" means: the office of Secretary of State, an office of a state agency subject to appointment for a term of office specified by the Texas Constitution or a statute of this state; an office subject to appointment with the advice and consent of the senate; the position of executive head of a state agency; or a state office subject to election but filled by appointment because of a vacancy or because the office is newly created.
  - In the context of candidacy or election to a state office, "state office" means a seat in the legislature, an executive or judicial office filled in a statewide election; a judgeship of a court of appeals or of a district court; membership on the State Board of Education; or the position of district attorney or criminal district attorney.

- "Student" means a person actively enrolled in a community college or university on the date of the person's application to the Commission.
