The new playground needs more swings than the current playground, as the swings are almost always full. Please keep the climbing dome as I feel the current one gets used quite a bit.

Priority: - Accessible/Inclusive - Shaded It's very unclear which are accessible and which are not, and how much shade is included. If it doesn't meet these two requirements, why are we doing this? A few are specifically called out as wheelchair accessible or with a ramp. Are the others not accessible? If we are creating a new playground, it should absolutely be accessible. Why would you spend money on something new and not take the time to make the playground inclusive? I hope the swing bays include a variety of swing types to be accessible also. This is Texas - if the equipment isn't shaded, it's useless to use and even dangerous. Please provide better descriptions and relaunch this survey -- as it is currently presented, this is not helpful.

The Southwest Family YMCA in OakHill built a fully accessible play structure last summer. It was constructed so kids with disabilities could play right alongside their typically developing peers and not sit to the side and watch their peers play. You say this playscape would be for "all abilities" but I only see one playground option with a ramp. I know it may be too far into the process but someone may want to take a look at what the Y built for accessibility ideas. Just changing stairs to ramps would truly make it for all abilities and give so many more children the opportunity to play on a playstructure. Most don't even get that opportunity at school so what an amazing thing to offer.

The shade provided by the integrated shader's is not adequate. Prefer to have the new structures in a naturally shaded area similar to the existing ones.
