PROJECT BACKGROUND

The City of Austin Parks and Recreation Department is creating a vision for the 77-acre day use area within the park which encompasses the waterfront, picnic area, and camping amenities. The Vision Plan will provide prioritized, incremental improvement recommendations for future uses and programming opportunities. This Vision Plan will identify improvements that can be implemented through design and construction with funding from the 2012 General Obligation Bond.

TIMELINE

Fall – Winter 2015

Data collection, public meeting, focus group meetings

Winter – Spring 2016

Evaluation of public input and technical analysis

Early Spring 2016

Summer 2016

Plan Refinement, Public Meeting to share results

PROJECT AREA

PUBLIC ENGAGEMENT

Public input is an essential part of this process and the City would like to work with the public to define goals for the park and envision how those goals might be achieved. This process will help define what uses are appropriate and desired, analyze opportunities and constraints of the current park site and program, and determine how the public will use the park in the future.
