

Runway To Opportunities

Doing Business at the Airport

The Airport of Choice
For Central Texas

www.abia.org

Austin-Bergstrom
International Airport

Austin-Bergstrom International Airport

generates $2.4+ billion into the economy and supports over 40,000 jobs, 3,000 at the airport itself.

Types of Airport Business Opportunities

CIP Projects

Capital Improvements Projects are bid through the City of Austin's Capital Contracting Office. This includes projects under $50,000 that will use the Small Business Enterprise program.

The City Of Austin has a listing of all projects and plan holders for the airport on their website:

www.austintexas.gov/department/capital-contracting

Consulting for the Airport

Approximately every two-three years, Aviation establishes a new rotation list for consultants. An RFQ will be released by the City's Capital Contracting Office.

Aviation Department utilizes the City's professional services rotation list for a variety of services: architecture, cost estimating, surveying etc., when Aviation specific technical services are not necessarily needed.

Stand Alone Purchases

Stand-alone purchases and opportunities, when available, will be released by Aviation's Purchasing and Contract Management Divisions.

Stand Alone RFQs

Requests for stand-alone professional services are released by Aviation when specific professional services are necessary for an individual project.

Revenue Generating RFPs

RFPs for the Airport are handled by the Aviation Department, and can be found on the Airport's website by clicking on the Business tab.

The most up to date notices on Stand Alone Purchases, RFQs and RFPs can be found by visiting the Business Page on Austin-Bergstrom's website:

www.austintexas.gov/departments/doing-business-aus

General Information:

- Contractors, consultants, and vendors can register with the City of Austin's Purchasing Department at the City's Financial Services webpage:

www.austintexas.gov/financeonline/vendor_connection

- Contractors, consultants, and vendors can also register with the City of Austin's Small and Minority Business Department:

www.austintexas.gov/business/doing-business-city

- Once registered, you will be notified of opportunities for which you register as interested in through the commodity codes that you select.
- While contact with the Aviation Department is not a problem, it does not provide any advantage when opportunities are available.
- The Capital Contract Office provides current bid and RFQ opportunities, standard bid documents, links to other key pages, and helpful information for doing business with the City of Austin:

www.austintexas.gov/department/contract-management

- Bid Tabs can be reviewed on the City's website:

www.austintexas.gov/page/bid-tabs

Austin-Bergstrom
International Airport